PEABODY HIGH SCHOOL
Peabody, Massachusetts

ALMA MATER

Of amber bricks, on velvet lawn
"Our Campus" stands serene;
To us who leave reluctantly
Her beauty's not unseen.

We sense a strange and sober air,
A feeling known to all,
As we withdraw, it grows in strength
And we await recall.

Yet in our minds we truly know
That we shall ne'er return;
And breathlessly we stand and watch
Those guiding candles burn.

No more will outstretched hands emerge
To guide us on our way,
To give us counsel now and then,
To help us every day.

Where e'er we go, what e'er we do
To face this world so grave,
We'll proudly use the wise advice
Our "High School Masters" gave.

We now withdraw and as we seek
The "Road to Happiness,"
We leave one thought with hearts sincere,
"We'll miss you, P. H. S."

FOREWORD

To the graduates of 1950, this yearbook serves as a perpetual record of four happy years during which countless friendships have been made. Link by link we have lengthened our chain of friendships, memories, laughs, disappointments, and conquered difficulties. Now our Meta serves as the final link to complete the chain.

After graduation, some of us will further our education, some will close the books of knowledge. Wherever you go we hope that your High School memories will follow as a faithful companion to guide you safely on the road to happiness and prosperity.

We, the editors of the Meta, sincerely hope that you will spend many enjoyable hours scanning these pages and recalling the faces of your classmates. We hope that you will find in every word, a memory to be cherished; in every line, a laugh or a tear to incite your heart; in every paragraph, an unforgettable character or friend; and in every page, the warm, tender feeling known to you when you were a student.

Let this Meta serve as a link between future happiness and past memories. May it ever serve as a strong bond between happiness and every member of the class of 1950.

THE DRAMATIC GUILD

Another chapter from the history of the P. H. S. Dramatic Guild under the very capable directorship of Mr. D. Edward Gorman is almost completed.

As we look back on the year or for many of us years we have enjoyed as members of the Dramatic Guild, we cannot help realizing the experience we have gained, the confidence we have acquired, and the spirit of cooperation we have achieved. The Guild has, indeed, been an invaluable, never-to-be-forgotten asset to our school extra-curricular activities.

Our officers for the senior year are especially deserving of a word of praise for their unselfishness and their determination to make 50's Guild a success. Melvin Mizner has performed a commendable task in presiding over the meetings as president. Irene Semenuk has been outstanding in her work as vice-president. George Gibbons and Carolyn Higgins, treasurer and secretary respectively, have carefully kept the necessary records of the Guild's financial and social achievements.

This year, the Guild has been unusually successful from the standpoint of group spirit. At every meeting, at rehearsals for both plays, and in all the various associations of the members of the Guild there was abundant evidence of friendliness, cooperation and unity of purpose.

"The Bat in the Belfry" was presented in a truly professional manner on December 9th, 1949 and won the deserved applause of the capacity house which greeted our first play as Seniors. As we prepare this little article for our Meta, we are looking forward confidently to our second production of the year, "Doctor's Orders". We feel reasonably certain that this production will insure financial success for us in the current year.

On January 25th, the Guild hired a bus to Boston and attended a performance of "The Mad Woman of Chaillot." The adverse weather in no way dampened the spirit of the group who made the trip.

During the year we were fortunate in having entertainment provided by Mr. Cuddire and Bruce Roberts. Mr. Cuddire presented us a movie entitled "The Bell Telephone Hour." It was a musical film greatly enjoyed by the members of the Guild. Bruce Roberts, a clown and comedian held the Guild's attention with his wit and humor.

A trip to Nantasket is now being discussed as a fitting conclusion to the year's activities. We cannot end this resume without first giving our thanks to all the seniors who showed their unselfishness by devoting their time and energy to help us achieve our aims. Good luck to our successors!

Cast - "THE BAT IN THE BELFRY"

"THE BAT IN THE BELFRY"

On December 9th, 1949, the air at P. H. S. auditorium was filled with expectancy as the curtains parted on "The Bat in the Belfry". Throughout the play, the audience was held half in eerie suspense and half in side-splitting laughter by the Dramatic Guild actors.

The play, in brief, centered around the mysterious "Red Robe" who was responsible for the disappearance of three of six Faelton sisters. The new clergyman, Wayne Westcott, who succeeded his father, was alarmed at the circumstances and brought one of his former school chums, Bill Brown of the F. B. I., to investigate. Meanwhile Jean Faelton, Wayne's fiancee had hired a detective and the chase was on with the doctor, Jean's sisters Arlene, Helen, and Marjorie, Lorina, Wayne's cousin and the other characters in close pursuit. After a long and comical series of events came Marjorie's capture and the death of the Red Robe. Amy, the good natured housekeeper supplied much of the humor. The cast was as follows:

|---|---|
| Wayne Westcott | Melvin Mizner |
| Rev. Westcott | George Gibbons |
| Jean Faelton | Irene Semenuk |
| Arlene Faelton | Carolyn Higgins |

"DOCTORS ORDERS"

On May 5th, 1950, the Dramatic Guild presented its second play entitled, "Doctor's Orders", a delightful three act comedy.

The play centers around Letty Madden, a spinster and major stockholder in the Madden Department Store. Her prim and oh so proper sister Agatha believes Adolf, their cousin and manager of the store, can do no harm, and when a sum of $5,000 is stolen, Rita Norris, his secretary is accused. Letty believes Rita is innocent and a young lawyer finally exposes Adolf as the thief. Letty's mad antics are a riot especially after a psychiatrist tells her to give in to any and all impulses. The play will be the last word in laughs for any audience. Humor is provided not alone by Letty, but also by the hat crazy minor executives, the neuropathic Specialist and the housekeeper Maimie.

For this otustanding production the Guild certainly merits praise. The cast follows:

|---|---|
| Letty Madden | Jane Paczkowski |
| Agatha Madden | Janet Raymond |
| Maimie Collins | Laura Witwicki |
| Adolf Madden | Philip Griffin |
| Julia Madden | Pat Riordan |
| Sarah Arnold | Anastasia Tilis |
| Jenny Powell | Luella Cummings |
| Cora Kent | Nancy Sabin |
| Rita Norris | Sally McLain |
| Steve Harmann | Melvin Mizner |
| Jerome Judson | Marvin Clopper |
| Michael O'Neil | Walter Osgood |
| Dr. Reynolds | Robert Muise |

ORCHESTRA

PEABODY HIGH SCHOOL ORCHESTRA

The Peabody High School Orchestra has become better known this year, and it has come to be recognized as a most important part of our high school music program. Although in past years the orchestra was seldom heard in our high school assemblies, this year it has appeared on numerous occasions and has been very well received by the student body.

The orchestra is made up of sixteen instruments. Of these sixteen players, six are graduating and are thus leaving positions which we hope will be capably filled by younger brothers and sisters who are genuinely interested in orchestral music. The following members of '50 depart sadly but with fond memories from the circle of the orchestra: Fred Driscoll, John Lobao, Ray Mafley, Helen Quirk, Ruth Riverbee and Francis Rosa.

As the orchestra is small, it has many advantages, one of the chief of which is that its members become better acquainted with one another. With the smaller group, too, it is possible for our director, Mr. Phillips, to give the members a little more individual attention.

The orchestra has this year graced many school assemblies with its beautiful music. It has also played at the annual Night School Graduation, lending an air of grace to this beautiful occasion. The work of the orchestra on this particular occasion evoked many compliments both from our school authorities and from those in attendance.

As the class of 1950 leaves the halls of Peabody High School, we wish our orchestra the best of luck in future years and we hope that it soon will achieve equal recognition with our high school band. We also extend our heartiest greetings to the new members and we hope that they will carry on the orchestra's traditions and customs. Before our final word of farewell we extend our very best wishes for the future to Mr. Phillips, who so capably directs our high school orchestra.

—H. E. Q.

PEABODY HIGH SCHOOL BAND

As in past years the Peabody High School Band has been one of the outstanding and colorful musical organizations of Essex County. It not only added color and zest to our football games, but it took part in many other school and civic activities. Among these civic occasions was the opening of the new Municipal Electric Light plant, at which the band paraded to and from the ceremonies in addition to presenting a very fine concert as their part of the program.

The band has again this year been under the direction of Mr. Claude Phillips and a new assistant, Mr. McCabe, who at once won the confidence and respect of all the band members. This year, as usual, the marching techniques and formations of the band were under the capable direction of Mr. Leo Murphy and our band showed itself to be equal in these respects to any of the high school bands of the surrounding cities.

When the class of 1950 graduates, it will take with it the following students from the ranks of the band: John Cullen, Fred Driscoll, Ann Klibansky, John Lobao, Ray Mafley, Frances Medina, Miriam Quinlan, Helen Quirk, Janet Raymond, Francis Rosa and Milton Trovas. These positions, however, will be quickly filled by the new prospective band members from the various grammar schools, younger boys and girls who have been preparing gradually to fill the places of members who are graduating.

We extend our very best wishes to these new members and we hope in the years to come that the Peabody High School Band will increase in numbers and will always be a credit to our school. It is with a feeling of regret that we say goodbye to our fellow members of the band and we shall always cherish the happy musical memories of our high school days.

THE GLEE CLUB

The P. H. S. Glee Club, one of the school's largest organizations, made their first appearance of the year in our auditorium on December 13, 1949. The program was a Christmas Concert and the stage was appropriately decorated with lovely Christmas trees and multicolored Christmas candles as footlights. The girls were dressed in dark skirts and white blouses with small corsages of evergreens and berries tied with red ribbon.

The girls opened the program with the traditional carols "Hark The Herald Angels Sing", "Silent Night", and Bach's "Beside Thy Cradle". A beautiful solo, "The Angel's Song" was offered by Frances Johnson. This was followed by "Joy To The World", "O Holy Night" and "O Come All Ye Faithful" by the entire Glee Club. Carol Jackman, a Freshman possessing a fine soprano voice, closed the first half of the program singing "Holy Night, Christmas Night".

Opening the second half of the concert, Lydia Michalchuk, a truly accomplished soprano offered "The Lord's Prayer". The Glee Club then joined in the familiar songs "White Christmas", "Winter Wonderland" and "Jingle Bells". The last solo, "Jesus Bambino", a lovely hymn, was presented in a charming way by Nancy Thatcher. The evening was brought to a close with the singing of "Christmas Bells" and "A Merry Christmas".

The concert was well attended and many favorable comments were extended to the group.

The girls also presented many of these songs at the Annual Christmas Assembly on December 22, 1949.

At the Night School Graduation, a Group of the girls entertained with a few selections including, "Chumbara", "Meadowlands" and "Johann". This is the second time that the Glee Club has been invited to sing at the closing exercises of evening school.

The Glee Club was again this year under the capable direction of Miss Grace E. Lawless, supervisor of Music, who was assisted by Miss Catherine Sheehan.

Of the 65 Members of the Club, 33 were from the class of '50. The officers were: President Elaine Mentus, Vice President Helen O'Connor, Secretary Diane Zavarise, Treasurer Nina Rudenko, Librarian Gertrude Massey.

DEBATING CLUB

THE DEBATING CLUB

The Peabody High School Debating Club had its initial meeting early in February, thus marking the return of this popular organization. At this meeting twenty-three interested pupils met with their adviser, Mr. Gorman, to organize the club.

The first informal debate, held in March, was on "Socialism Vs. Capitalism". Each member presented his views and then joined in the spirited rebuttal which lasted well into the afternoon.

On April 12 another informal debate was held, "Resolved: A Student Council would Benefit P. H. S." Almost all arguments were in favor of student government and several participants voiced the opinion that it was too bad that the Civics Club's aim for a Student Council had not materialized.

May 2 was "banner day" for this club, for our first formal debate was held on the subject, "Resolved: Socialized Medicine should be adopted in the U. S. A." The judges decided that the negative side was the winner.

The 1950 officers of the Debating Club were:

|---|---|
| President | Janet Raymond |
| Vice-President | Marvin Clopper |
| Secretary-Treasurer | Nancy Sabin |

SPANISH CLUB

STAMP CLUB

RADIO CLUB

THE RADIO CLUB

As the members of the Class of 1950, who were fortunate in being also members of the Radio Club, pass from the high school scene they will look back with considerable satisfaction on the work they accomplished in this group, one of the newer yet flourishing organizations of Peabody High School.

The Radio Club, organized only two years ago, assembled for its second year early in November 1949 with a large and enthusiastic membership. The officers elected were President, Frank Carrarini; Vice-President, James LaPointe; Secretary, William Carter; Treasurer, James Bouras. These officers we are happy to say have done much to extend the activities of the club and to bring interest and enthusiasm into our varied activities.

During the year we have had talks on various types of radio equipment such as: Audio Amplifier, Francis Roy; Code Oscillator, Richard Valeria; Capacitance Relay Set, Donald Allen and William Carter; Superheterodyne Radio, James Metropolis. All of this equipment was built or assembled by the speakers themselves and the fact that they were capable of making and using and discussing this equipment is an indication of the type of work accomplished in the Radio Club under the expert guidance of their adviser, Mr. Edmund O'Hara.

The members of the Radio Club are grateful to Mr. Barry, Mr. Hurley, and especially to Mr. O'Hara for their advice and encouragement during the year.

META BUSINESS STAFF

OUR TYPISTS

MR. JAMES E. ARNOLD

Of Mr. Arnold we, the members of the Class of 1950, can merely say that we find it practically impossible to enumerate all the helpful and friendly deeds that he has done for us during our years in high school. In our fond memories of high school days he will always be remembered as a true friend and a wise counselor.

CIVICS CLUB

If the Senior Class of 1950 is remembered for nothing else, it should always be remembered as the founder of the Civics Club. We, as Freshmen, under the capable guidance of Mr. Bernard Dullea, Mr. James Arnold, and Mrs. Helen O'Connor, formed a united and powerful organization in order to further the interests of the Freshmen at Peabody High School. Great were our expectations and now in our final year at our beloved Alma Mater, it is our pride and pleasure to see the Civics Club become ever more active as an organization devoted to the improvement of the spirit of our high school.

Those who in our first year at this High School took an active part in the organization of this Club (and there were many of us who contributed much in that year) can still remember the heated debates and arguments, the sweat, blood, and tears, that contributed so much in those first days and months of the Club's existence. To our very great joy the classes following us have carried on nobly and very, very successfully. But the labor that we expended in founding and establishing this group has helped to instill into the minds of the unsettled and shy freshmen a spirit of confidence and fellowship, a desire to work together, and a practical experience of democracy in action. We were given opportunities to express ourselves through our elections, and in the very argumentative meetings that were held each Friday. We had a voice in the planning and executing of the various activities that developed in us cooperation and straightforwardness which are not easily acquired as Freshmen. There were times, we must admit, when the organization did not run as smoothly as planned, but this only helped in furthering the friendship and intimacy of its members. We always remained friends.

Not only was our success the result of the cooperative spirit of the Freshman class of 1946-1947 and the capable guidance of our advisers, but our excellent choice of officers gave the Civics Club that extra push. With President Melvin Mizner, Vice-President Lucille Moquin, Secretary Irene Semenuk, and Treasurer George Antonio, we couldn't help being a success! Extra help was forthcoming when committees were chosen, the Aims, Program, and Publicity Committees, helping to bring about and share in the successful results. Dances, raffles, and pleasant programs were held, which all in all contributed to the enjoyment of all its members.

Through the efforts of its members and officers and through the unselfish, untiring work of our advisers, the membership of the Civics Club was extended to the Sophomore Class which made the group even more effective in promoting a new Peabody High School spirit. The activities and programs were similar to those of the first year with officers elected as follows: President, Melvin Mizner; Vice-President, Joan Doucette (Freshman); Secretary, Irene Semenuk; Sophomore Treasurer, George Antonio, and Freshman Treasurer, Gabriel Bettencourt.

The advantages of the Civics Club are extended to this Senior Class, especially to those who were members either in their Freshman or Sophomore year. To those members the class dues were cut in half!

The Civics Club, however, was formed for a purpose, other than that of enjoyment, recreation, stability of Freshmen, democracy and a civic interest. Perhaps the Aims of the Civics Club will better explain:

1. To cultivate civic responsibility and better citizenship.
2. To work toward the establishment of a student council.
3. To secure needed improvements for our library.
4. To improve the facilities of our cafeteria.
5. To promote the cleanliness of our rooms, corridors, basement, and yard.
6. To increase and promote better visual education facilities.
7. To orient properly the incoming Freshmen.

During the four years of its existence, the Civics Club has accomplished a great deal and has contributed to the improvement of our school in many ways, but the greatest and most lasting of these in the minds of the students is the group of five assemblies sponsored each year by the Civics Club. During the course of each year, this prosperous organization has put aside money enough to pay for five speakers on some subject that is both interesting and educational to the students of Peabody High School. This is the project that has made the Civics Club so favorably known both within and without the school building. That Club is to be commended for its valuable service, and we of the graduating class of 1950 wish it continued success in the years to come.

—J. P.

PROPHECY

IN THE CLASSROOM

PROPHECY

The time has come, the prophet said,
To speak of many things.
Let's gaze into the crystal ball
For what the future brings.

Some look topsy turvey,
Some remain the same:
Some will be obscure,
Others rise to fame.

The year is nineteen sixty;
Some changes have been made.
We see the class of '50
Marching on parade.

There is great commotion at PAGE'S PEAK as our Governor, the ever-popular political leader, JAMES NALLY, bids farewell to some of his intimate colleagues. PEABODY, the newly designated capital of Massachusetts is the point of embarkation for a coastal tour of the entire United States. PAGE'S PEAK, a very popular recreational center, is owned by our civic-minded citizen, JANET RAYMOND.

The tour will be made in a massive rocket ship which stands glistening in the sun. This beautiful model was designed by the renowned scientist, JAY TANZER, and his assistants. GEORGE SCOURAS contributed to the radiation system, while MILTON TROVAS, the famous physicist, designed the navigating instruments. The greatest sensation is the new type of button on the instruments designed by ALBERT CIMAN. Credit is also due to FRANK SANGER for his work in streamlining the ship and to DOROTHY AIKEN, who has added the woman's touch to the interior.

As the rocket prepares to leave, the Governor's associates arrive in an ATOMIC-DRIVE CADILLAC. The door is opened and five tall, dark, and handsome individuals step out: "LORD" JOHN STANTON, "SIRE" GEORGE KARAKOUDAS, "ALL-AMERICAN" ED BROPHY, "LEATHER KING" TED LASKARIS, and "BOTTLE MANUFACTURER" JACK SAVY. The president of Peabody University, ROBERT MUISE, with his vice-president, GEORGE GIBBONS and HELEN QUIRK, girls' adviser at the University, are checking the last minute details. Cheers are heard as the fabulous millionaires who endowed this trip stand ready to christen the rocket. SAMUEL SHEINHIT donated a paltry six million, GEORGE ANTONIO threw in seven and LUELLA CUMMINGS hit the jackpot by giving the enormous amount of $1.00. There is a great "zoom" and "SHOO, SHOO, BABY" is on its way! !

"BONNE VOYAGE"
"NEW YORK! NEW YORK! . . A WONDERFUL TOWN!"

The Governor's party arrives at the Waldorf-Astoria, ten minutes after leaving PAGE'S PEAK. Here they are greeted by the good-natured manager and friend, JACK GOURLEY. Much to their surprise they are invited to attend the wedding of their classmates, MISS CAROLYN HIGGINS and MR. ELTON McGRAY, who are to take their marital vows in the large ballroom at one o'clock. The Governor accepts the invitation and retires to his suite.

At one o'clock strains of the Wedding March are carried through the hotel. The ballroom is beautifully decorated and the attractive bride is dressed in a blue gown with a nylon overskirt. The maid of honor is LUCILLE MOQUIN, now owner of Liggetts' drug stores, and the bridesmaids are HELEN MANOS and JOAN KIRANE. RAY MAFLEY, a popular orchestra leader, is the best man and also in the wedding party are JOHN FOLEY and WILLIAM MEADE. At the reception a lovely luncheon is catered by STEWART MacKINNON, who caters at all the best affairs. As the Governor mingles with the guests, he meets ELLEN SCARNEGIE and NIKKI PAPPAS wearing their new PARISIENNE gowns; JOE YONIS telling the gentlemen about some of his experiences as Egyptian ambassador. RONALD BRISSETTE giving a detailed explanation of his new helicopter; and PHYLLIS LANGLAIS revealing the excitement of living in Alaska, the forty-ninth state of America. After chatting a short while, the Governor and his retinue are forced to leave, for they have an appointment at the mammoth NEW YORK TIMES building.

Upon their arrival they are greeted by the verse writer BARBARA QUINLAN, who graciously escorts them into the office of the editor, JANE PACZKOWSKI. Jane is in conference with the TIMES star reporter, ABRAHAM SKREP, who is running off a scoop for the evening edition. PAUL DOOK, sports reporter, interrupts the conversation to inquire about his afternoon assignment. There is hustle and bustle in the outer office as NANCY SABIN and VIRGINIA SPILIOTIS busily sketch those exquisite Paris creations which appear weekly.

The next stop is at the luxurious sky-scraper of "LIFE" Magazine. THOMAS JOHNSON, the cover boy, is causing quite a commotion because he simply won't pose with Betty Grable's daughter. But after some persuasion from editor WARREN LENDALL and art adviser WARREN DAGLEY, Tommy relents and the cover is photographed.

After leaving the building they agree to visit the "Hall of Fame." As they walk through the portals of the hall their attention is brought to a portrait of WALTER OSGOOD, chosen Boy Scout of 1955 for his dependable service and leadership of the Boy Scouts of America. On the left are two beautiful statues of Mr. and Mrs. NORMAN LAAKSO (nee JOAN ANDERSON) who have been chosen Mr. and Mrs. America. Further down the corridor they notice a life-sized statue of our F.B.I. detective JOHN CULLEN who succeeded in solving that famous "Brink Case" in 1958. The party spends the rest of the afternoon in the archives of the hall and then leaves for Yankee Stadium to watch a ball game.

The night game is between the New York Yankees and the Peabody Tanners. Coach ED GORMAN has a star battery with BILL CONNOLLY as catcher, and DICK CASSIDY as pitcher. Although coach GORMAN has always been a strong rooter for the Yankees, he is confident that the Tanners will win the pennant this year. The Peabody aggregation, of course, wins easily, with Dick pitching his third no-hit, no-run game of the season.

The following morning finds the party in the historic city of WASHINGTON, D. C. MELVIN MIZNER, the President of the United States, and his able secretary, JEAN DZIERZANOWSKI, extend heartfelt greetings to all as they enter the capitol building. Among the employed stenographers is MARJORIE VELEZ, who has at last succeeded in obtaining an office of her own with her name on the door. In one of the main offices, VIOLA RISTEEN and PHYLLIS MENTUS are busily occupied with the letters of congratulation addressed to JOHN PARIANOS, newly elected Speaker of the House. GLADYS BABNER is typing reports and ROSE BERTOLDI seems to be so busy answering the ten telephones on her desk that she fails to notice the Governor's party.

In the House of Representatives, GEORGE PERRIS and WILLIAM PRAMAS, two of the Massachusetts legislators, are engaged in an exciting debate. The argument is centered around the most controversial question of the day, "Should parking meters be installed for helicopters?" Mr. Perris is strongly in favor of them, but Mr. Pramas thinks it absolutely absurd. Also debating on the question are JOSEPH VALDOFSKY and RONALD TANKEVICH.

In the House lobby, the party meets GEPPY CHIN, our famous ambassador to China. He has just returned from a conference in his ancestral country and is overwhelmed with joy at seeing his friends and classmates. In the midst of their conversation, they are interrupted by IRENE SEMENUK, our ambassador to Russia, who has succeeded in bringing about truly peaceful relations between Russia and the United States. After chatting a short while, the Governor leaves the lobby and enters one of the outer offices. Seated behind an enormous desk is FRANCIS ROSA, our minister to the newly created province of Kucamonga. Francis tells the Governor of the high positions held by some of their classmates at Annapolis. The party decides to make the day complete by renewing their old acquaintances at the "navy" city.

Once again the colossal rocket ship soars through the air and arrives shortly at Annapolis airport. While on the field, the party watches the naval cadets on parade as ROBERT DULAVITZ, chief petty officer, shouts commands. BEN JORDAN, Lieutenant, j.g. and ROBERT BRYAR, Ensign, notice the visitors, and escort them into one of the executive buildings. They pause at the commander's office and not at all surprised to see RICHARD SHAW, COMMANDER, printed in large black letters on the door. Dick is discussing the possibilities of unification with Commander GEORGE WILKINSON and Lieutenant ROBERT SHEA of the Marines. The business is put aside upon the entrance of the Governor and the day is spent touring Annapolis and talking over high school days.

The party's next stop is at the Mid-Century Beach Club in the sunshine state of Florida. Waiting to carry them to the club are a fleet of "Atomicar" Convertibles. As they drive through the grounds, they see ARTHUR MAGUIRE teaching a group of guests the fundamentals of golf. Two of his pupils, CONNIE MARSHALL and BEATRICE MARIA appear to be more interested in their instructor than in the lesson. On the fairway is PHYLLIS AUGUSTO, who is preparing to enter the Women's Championship Tournament at Tampa. In front of the club house, FRANCES MEDINA is explaining to GLORIA CORREIA why a different club must he used for each shot. ALINA LOUREIRO, a New York model, is also at the resort with her friend, LUCILLE FERNANDES. As the visitors stroll by the rainbow-tiled swimming pool, they are surprised to see FLORENCE HUTCHINS, head swimming instructor and life saver casually floating in the water. Not far from the pool are the children's quarters where the children of the guests are playing under the supervision of their governess, PAT RIORDAN. As they enter the club, they find JERRY FROMER, the owner, smoking a huge cigar and giving manager JOSEPH ESKENAS instructions for the Governor's Ball to be held in the evening. SALLY McLAIN, "Ice Capades" star, is talking with nurse BERNICE NEILSON, who is caring for ETHEL GOODHUE. Ethel sprained her ankle while playing a vigorous game of tennis with VIRGINIA DIACHISIN.

The orchestra, under the direction of FRED DRISCOLL, begins tuning up and the guests follow ANN BOYLE, who is gaily chattering, into the ballroom. The highlights of the evening are LYDIA MICALCHUCK'S sweet singing, and several violin selections by RUTH RIVERBEE. Both Lydia and Ruth perform regularly at the Boston Opera House.

As the evening wears on, the Governor's party leaves the hall and once again boards the rocket. The ship glides over the shimmering ocean bound for New Orleans.

The Mardi Gras is in full swing as the members of the party stroll down the main boulevard. This festive occasion is being observed with all the pomp and colorful exhibition that has been customary through the years. The crowd begins to drift along beside the Rose Float, which is leading the parade through the streets. Standing on a platform of red roses is the Queen, MARION ANDERSON, dressed in an exquisite white tulle gown. Petite POLLY PUTNAM heads the list of attendants, one of whom is NANCY THATCHER, now appearing at the "Cobra Club" as star soloist. NANCY WASHBURN, her golden tresses gleaming in the sun, is busy waving from atop the float to her many admirers. EVELYN KULEZA, tall and stately, is strewing roses to all the little children she can find. In private life, she is a kindergarten teacher. The female governor of Louisiana, JACKIE HITCHINGS, is also one of the fair damsels who constitute the Court of the Queen of Roses.

At the end of the Boulevard, a grandstand has been erected to permit spectators to watch the awarding of the prizes. Amid cheers of applause, the fabulously wealthy "Cotton King," ANTHONY BETTENCOURT, presents a medal to CARL ANDERSON for the "most original costume" which was designed by GERTRUDE MASSEY.

After all the prizes are awarded, the festivities come to a close and the members of the party retire for the night in one of the city's gay hotels.

In the morning, they clamber into the rocket and leave for the "Doyle Dude Ranch" in Texas. The ship circles over the ranch and lands gently in a pasture. On hand to welcome the Governor are the owner JOHN DOYLE, and the receptionits, SOPHIE WALKOVICH. The riding instructor, CHARLIE FREEMAN, approaches, leading a group of stallions for the party's ride back. Dotting the field are many stables, and in one of them, STRATIS GEORGOULIS is laboriously milking cows. Milking is not Strati's regular occupation, for he is a wealthy oil tycoon, and is just helping out during his stay at the ranch. Standing on the steps of the ranchhouse are two more oil millionaires, EDDIE SULLIVAN and GENE STAID. They are admiring the numerous oil wells that surround the ranch. Inside the house, LOUISE FRUTUOSO and WILLIAM BAGLEY, down for the week-end from Reno, are discussing business. William, a divorce court judge, is discouraged with the low divorce rate and complains that too many people are happily married. The conversation ends upon the party's appearance and the guests spend the day touring the grounds. They retire at an early hour for a much needed rest.

The following morning, the ship leaves for U. C. L. A. in California. The palatial halls of the administration building are silent as the group approaches the office in which the department heads are discussing current problems. BILL TOOMEY, head football coach, and ANN KLIBANSKY, girls' athletic supervisor, are engaged in conference. They are endeavoring to arrange a system whereby both boys and girls can use the gym at the same time without interference. HELEN GARABEDIAN, teacher of Home Economics, is greatly distressed with HARRY NORWOOD'S failure to see that the ruhbish is disposed of properly. Helen warns him that unless he adheres to the scool rules, he will lose his position as head custodian. EDDIE ROLLINS, owner of the "Jenny" gasoline chain, is also arguing with a department head. He states that two of his gas pumps have been knocked over by careless students and requests that they drive more carefully through his station. Rather than interrupt the conferences,, the party decides to leave the University and fly to the next stop, Hollywood.

The office of producer PHILIP GRIFFIN is buzzing with excitement as the party approaches the Metro-Fox studios. Phil extends a hearty invitation to the Governor to meet some of the performers from Peabody. Among the stars who have assembled to greet the party are comedian MARTIN GOLDBERG, who has recently taken over Milton Berle's television show; the famous twin actresses NINA and HELEN RUDENKO; PAT MENDALKA, an accomplished pianist, who composes and plays themes for the studio's pictures; and JOHN MULLARKEY, the Gregory Peck of 1960. Working on the set is EDDIE BARRELL, head studio technician. He is directing the erection of props for a western scene. In charge of the lighting arrangements is RICHARD CLARKE, and JOHN CLARE is skillfully directing the sound system. During their stay at the studio, the visitors obtain their first opportunity to watch the filming of a movie. After a few scenes have been filmed the guests, led by dramatic actress LAURA WITWICKI, begin a tour of the Hollywood business district.

The first store visited by the party is the "Bow-Wow Pet Shop", owned by ROBERT WLASUK. Robert is also a veterinarian and cares for many of the pets of Hollywood personalities. Across the street is a sporting goods store managed by PATRICK SPLAINE. The merchandise he carries varies from golf tees to football uniforms. Pat is also the sponsor of a local baseball team. In the heart of the mercantile zone is a tremendous clothing goods store, called the "Smart-Styles Shoppe." It is co-owned by GLORIA BORNSTEIN and BETTE STAVROS. Their assistants, BARBARA BLAIS and IRENE SULLIVAN, are famed for the revolutionary dresses they have designed. The business manager of the establishment is HELEN MANDRAGOURAS, and the purchasing agents are MARGARET GARDNER and MARY HIGGINS, both of whom have helped make the store the envy of fashion shops throughout the country. NANCY MANNIX is the store's private accountant, and she is ably assisted by the head stenographer, MARY DOHERTY. Among the models are PAT STEWART, who appears every week in the nation's leading magazines, and MARY SCLAVOUNOS, a regular performer at Paris fashion shows.

After leaving the building, the visitors are escorted to the country home of the famous authoress, JANE WILLIAMSON. The party finds her sitting by the swimming pool dictating her latest novel, "Fortunate Fabia", to her lovely secretary MARY SILVA. Mary is Jane's companion as well as secretary, and the two ladies live a gay but leisurely life in the country. It is a beautiful day and the warm hospitality of the hostesses almost quenches the party's desire to leave. However, as little time remains for the completion of the tour, the visitors reluctantly depart for Seattle.

The rocket arrives in time to allow the Governor and retinue to watch the "Little Mr. Bigs" color television show. The famous "Little Mr. Bigs" are none other than WILLIAM CARTER and ROBERT ENOS. Their show, with ROBERT BURKINSHAW as master of ceremonies, has won nation-wide recognition.

It originated in Peabody, but was transferred to Seattle when ARTHUR CARLSON and JOSEPH CAPRA, operating salmon fisheries in this city, offered to sponsor it. The director of the show is DONALD PRICE, and the producer is RALPH SMITH. JEANETTE PRATT, comedian, enlivens the show with her witty jokes. Her script is written by COSTA PAPANDREAU. Some of the show's standouts are PEARL BULLERWELL, famed for her modern dance techniques; PAT GEORGIOU and CATHERINE LIACOS, hostesses, whose genial ways have won them many admirers; and BEVERLY GLENCROSS, baton twirler, who thrills the audience with her performances.

Also in Seattle is ANDREW GIANACOPLES, a successful and much-respected businessman. Andy owns a large forested area, from which the finest wood in the country is obtained. The foreman of his lumberjack camp is EDWARD DULLEA, and ANTHONY TRIANTAFILLOU is in charge of blasting operations. The camp also boasts an inventor in MAX DLUZNIESKI. He invented the "Max-Ax" some years ago, which chops trees down with one swing. EDWARD MARSHALL is in charge of shipping of the lumber which is transported to factories on the "Gets-There-Fast" railway line, owned by WILLIAM MARTINUK.

After a trip through the Seven Hills of Seattle the party leaves for Pike's Peak, in the scenic Rocky Mountains. The visitors board a streamlined edition of the mule train, driven by PAUL CHIGAS and JAMES METROPOLIS. As they proceed along the winding path, they notice a cozy, but isolated, bungalow. Waving from the house is the former DOTTY SCOTT. She is married to a "WILD LIFE RANGER" who is studying the habits of the animals in this region. Other Rangers in the outpost are DONALD McKINNON and JOHN GRAY. Donald is in charge of the lookout tower and John sees that the hunters do not violate any game laws.

Since there is little to entertain the rangers in their spare time, they frequently travel to Grange meetings nearby. The national President of the Grangers is JOAN FRENCH, while WILLIAM SPEARS is President of the local chapter. ALEXANDER KOLODZIEJ is also a local offic[illegible] and [illegible] surer.

The visitors are escorted through beautiful vall[illegible] and mountains, stopping occasionally at lakes to try their [illegible] at fishing. Satisfied that the day has been well spent, the [illegible]ive for a livelier site, Chicago, the "Windy City."

They are greeted by the police chief PETER ANGELAKIS, who becomes their personal guide. Peter leads his guests to the "Card Club,," owned by JOAN RAIN and managed by her close friend, ANNETTE TANZER. In 1956, both ladies won national honors for their excellence at various card games. Joan took first prize in "Rummy," and Annette won the trophy awarded for "Canasta."

The visitors are no match for the pair, so they leave for the underground home of JOHN SIEMASKO, nuclear physicist. They are led through many tunnels and doors before reaching his laboratory. Upon entering, they are sworn to secrecy by watchman MURRAY EDELSTEIN, and they readily agree to reveal nothing of what they see. Working amidst a maze of glass tubing and pipes is John himself. He leaves his work to inform the visitors that he and his assistants are perfecting the "Beetle-Bomb" which spreads peace. When finished, he explains, the bomb's power will far exceed that of the "Hydrogen" bomb. His assistants are STANLEY STANISZEWSKI, who is in a far corner experimenting with various chemicals; QUINTIN TRACCHIA, much absorbed in a set of blueprints he has drawn up; and RAYMOND DUNN, who is busily occupied arranging apparatus. The cooking and cleaning are entrusted to agent XB-1, SALLY GIBLEY. Sally gave up her wrestling career to become surface agent for the scientists. The visitors make their exit through the maze of tunnels and shortly reach street level.

The party next visits the haven for the sick, the "Cure-all" hospital, whose supervising physician is CHARLES COLLINS. The hospital boasts of never having failed to relieve suffering patients (dead people do not suffer, so . . . . ) In charge of maintenance is ANN MARIE POTTER, and the head nurse is HELEN MANNINEN. ELAINE MENTUS is the physician in the broken-bones ward, while DOROTHY OLEND treats the mild psychopathic cases. It was Dorothy who restored Albert Einstein's sanity in 1957 with her gentle treatments, after he became deranged from working too vigorously on a difficult problem. Before leaving, the visitors are shown the various instruments used by the hospital for treating patients, and are informed of medicine's latest advances made by eminent doctors.

Once again, the rocket ship soars through the air, bound for the starting point of the tour, Peabody. Peering through their binoculars, the passengers sight an enormous pile of potatoes at Spudsville, Maine. They circle a few feet above the farm and recognize the former ANN MURRAY with her husband LENNIE BROUGHTON. They are prosperous potato growers and own the "Dingo and Bingo" potato farm which covers an area the size of Massachusetts.

The rocket fades into the distance and finally arrives in Peabody, amid the cheers of the crowd. Among the graduates of '50 who have remained in Peabody and are on hand to welcome the party are the Mayor, MIRIAM QUINLAN, fire Chief MARTIN McCORMACK, and City Solicitor PHYLLIS FELLOWS. Leading the band is JOHN LOBAO. EDWARD MANEY, owner of Supersonic Sound Company, has arranged the sound system in preparation for the speeches by the Governor and his retinue. The proceedings are to be broadcast over radio station WPEA, whose president is JOHN McCARTHY. In charge of refreshments are City Clerk DOROTHY PAVLOS and Attorney RICHARD McCAULEY. The refreshments have been donated by the "Hood's-CeBrook" Company, owned by ROBERT MAHONEY, and the "Crow's-Nest" beverage corporation, managed by ETHEL ROSSOS.

P. H. S. auditorium is filled to capacity as ELAINE GOLDBERG, Master of Ceremonies, introduces the speakers, who relate their experiences and tell of the former Peabodyites they have encountered. Short speeches are also given by other city officials, including Police Chief WILLIAM MALLAS, Councillor JEANNE ST. PIERRE, and JOSEPH DONLON, Health Department Head. JOAN PUTNAM, singer, entertains the audience with a number of popular selections, rendered in her own inimitable manner, while JAMES KIPREADIS demonstrates how he won the "Comedian of the Year" award. Of course, the affair is being televised (in color) and EDWARD LEVASSEUR is controlling the cameras with help from STELLA SPANEAS. MARY TORIGIAN directs the show from behind the curtains, ELEANOR DZUINESKI has charge of the ushers, and capable PAULINE GRAYTON is in charge of the makeup room.

With the delivery of the speeches, the affair comes to a close, and the spectators, as they leave for their homes try to visualize what the future holds in store during the next ten years.

CLASS DIARY OF '50

Another memorable school year has begun—a year of study, of course, together with the many athletic and social activities in which many of us participate. Up and down the corridors of the school, at appropriate times, the merry laughter of students can be heard, who look forward to their class and school activities with eagerness and enthusiasm. On the bulletin boards are posters announcing future dances, election results, and many items of interest to us all.

The year of 1949-50 is one which will forever remain vivid in our memories, for this is the year when we shall finally part with many of our favorite friends and beloved teachers. It seems like only yesterday that we were no higher than the bottom rung of a chair. Look at us now, tall enough to be Seniors! Time flies! Doesn't it? With chests expanded and noses high in the air, we possess that superior attitude which accompanies Seniorhood. There's nothing like being a Senior is there? And there's no use denying—we love it when the underclassmen look upon us with hero-worship. As we predicted so confidently, the class of '50 came through!!!

September 12

"School Days, School Days, dear old Golden Rule days—" Back to school again with the Freshmen gazing in wonderment and the Seniors strutting around, and adding to the Freshmen's woe with the customary Senior pranks.

September 22

Election Day—After days of busy campaigning, the important hour has arrived. All thoughts are of our favorite candidates. Votes are cast and after all are counted, congratulations are in order for the following successful candidates: Senior President, Melvin Mizner; Senior Vice-President, Jacquelyn Hitchings; Senior Secretary, Jean Dzierzanowski; Senior Treasurer, Edward Brophy.

September 23

More Elections—Next come our home-room representatives elections, and after all votes were counted, wonder of wonders, all our senior home-room representatives, with one exception, proved to be members of our football team. The successful candidates were: Room 101, William Connolly; Room 102, George Karakoudas; Room 103, Aristotle Laskaris; Room 104, John Parianos; Room 105, Jacob Savy.

What has happened to the chivalry of olden days? How could the boys be so unchivalrous as to slight their sweet and glamorous female classmates?

September 28

Boy! What's happening at P. H. S.? Oh, it's only the students at a cheering assembly. We thought the Chemistry Lab had exploded!

October 6

October 11th will soon be here,
The "Senior Barn Dance" we all will cheer;
We've hired a band from a neighboring town
And I'm sure Dick Putnam won't let us down.
Come all dressed up, or come in sports,
We'll furnish enjoyment of many sorts.

B. Q.

October 7

Congratulations to the Senior associate members who participated in this year's first meeting of the Peabody Woman's Club. Included among the select group are: Luella Cummings, Jean Dzierzanowski, Phyllis Fellows, Joan French, Patricia Georgiou, Jacquelyn Hitchings, Ann Murray, Helen Manos, Helen Quirk and Irene Semenuk.

October 11

Our Barn Dance and as you'll fondly remember—a good time was had by all.

October 19

Who is your favorite crooner? What are your ten top tunes? Just as soon as today's ballots are counted, we'll find out the P. H. S. favorites.

October 20

The Glee Club chose the month of October in which to hold their elections. The club, which this year has an unusually large membership of sixty girls, is under the capable direction of Miss Lawless. The following girls were elected to perform the duties of their respective officers: President, Elaine Mentus; Vice-President, Helen O'Connor; Secretary, Diane Zavarise; Treasurer, Nina Rudenko.

October 25

We wonder how many girls will be sporting "black and blue" after their strenuous workout with the Apparatus Club today! Miss McNamara surely gave us a lively session! ! ! !

October 26

It's time the Civics Club took a chance
And had a great big Halloween Dance;
We really hope that all will come
And join with us in having fun;
Everyone is taking part,
At 8 O'clock the dance will start.

October 28

Bi-monthlies, many books, and serious students who seem to be burning the midnight oil. Why doesn't this happen more often? Why? ? ?

October 31

Mr. Barry spoke to the Senior Class on caps and gowns this morning. Can it be that late? It seems incredible that we're Seniors and graduation's just around the corner! ! !

November 2

The annual Peabody-Salem rally was held this morning with the band playing its best, the students lead by their vivacious cheerleaders cheering their loudest, and the coaches and Captain Nally promising a victory for P. H. S. Sunday.

November 3

Joan Rain, Janet Raymond, Polly Putnam and William Pramas represented Peabody High on Bob Clayton's Boston Ballroom over WHDH and gave the results of the poll taken October 19. Here they are:

No. 1 "Lucky Old Sun" by Frankie Lane;
No. 2 "Jealous Heart" by Al Morgan;
No. 3 "Don't Cry Joe" by Gordon Jenkins.
No. 4 "I Can Dream, Can't I?" by Patty Andrews;
No. 5 "Cocoanuts" by Freddie Martin;
No. 6 "You're Breaking My Heart" by Vic Damone;
No. 7 "Whispering Hope" by Jo Stafford & Gordon MacRae;
No. 8 "Maggie" by Ken Roberts;
No. 9 "Johnson Rag" by Jack Teeter;
No. 10 "Someday" by Vaughn Monroe.
Favorite Band, Vaughn Monroe
Favorite Vocalist, Vaughn Monroe.

November 4

Teachers' Convention Day in Boston and a holiday for us.

In the evening our P. H. S. Cheerleaders sponsored a Peabody-Salem Victory Dance and they very sweetly appeased both cities by dividing the gym in half—decorating one-half in P. H. S. colors and the other half in S. H. S. colors. The best bands in the land, via records, furnished the music for the dance.

November 6

The Peabody and Salem teams compromised by playing a 6-6 tie this afternoon at Bertram Field.

November 9

Under the capable direction of Mr. James Arnold, the Civics Club has again resumed its activities for the year. One of the main projects of the Club is the sponsoring of four assemblies each year in which noted lecturers and famous stars of opera and radio are introduced to us.

Assemblies sponsored thus far by our Civics Club are as follows:

November 9

Mr. Lynch, champion archer, held us spellbound with his bows and arrows as we witnessed breath taking stunts performed with great accuracy and skill.

December 8

Mr. Alfred Calvaniri, noted violinist, serenaded us with his soft, sweet music including many popular and classical compositions.

January 4

Mr. Geambey, noted lecturer on flags of states and territories, exhibited his large collection of flags and made some very interesting comments about some of them. A detailed talk was given on our own U. S. A. flag. The assembly proved to be extremely enlightening and we are sure it will be of great use in our history classes.

March 30

Charming, attractive, Diana Dixon, champion finger whistler, entertained us at this morning's assembly by imitating various chirpings of birds and whistling many popular tunes among which were "'Indian Love Call", "Cinderella", "Whispering Hope", "Holiday for Strings", etc.

We hope that this live-wire organization will have many more assemblies as intellectual, amusing and entertaining as the previous ones, and also to serve as an example and as an incentive to future classes of Freshmen.

November 17

Report cards were distributed to tortured students—many gloomy and smiling faces were to be seen, but in the course of a few days, all will be normal once more!

November 21

Aw, come now, don't be bashful, smile! No? Well, look at the birdie then! Will we ever forget! Graduation pictures! Some are already in circulation, others are still in process. The studio reported that as yet the camera has not been broken. This year, our class got an early start in having their pictures taken.

November 23

Today classes were dismissed at noon in order that the students could enjoy a longer Thanksgiving week-end.

December 2

Stand straight; Line up against the wall! Give your name! No, we aren't facing a Nazi firing squad; we're only being measured for caps and gowns.

December 7

Our Observer Staff presented its Observer assembly this morning. Melvin Mizner, acting as master of ceremonies, introduced the members of the staff individually and also explained the necessity of obtaining a large number of subscriptions. Short speeches about the magazine were delivered by Carolyn Higgins, Jane Paczkowski, Irene Semenuk, and Jay Tanzer who reminded us that a five-pound box of chocolates would be given to every homeroom whose subscription was 100 per cent. We are reminded of the fact that the students have always supported their school magazine generously and will do so again this year.

December 8

Santa knows if you've been good
Because he has been told
And in his pack he carries gifts
For both the young and old.
Papa wants his slippers, just to
Scuff around the floor;
Brother wants expensive gifts
A bike, and many more.
Mother wants some sweet perfume
From little brother, Paul.
But sister wants an invite
To the Senior Christmas Ball.
So please take heed unto her plea
And ask her right away
She'll dance with joy to know that she
Will ride in Santa's sleigh.

B. Q.

December 9

"The Bat in The Belfry" will certainly be well remembered by the audience as well as the cast, as the most thrilling, exciting, spine-tingling play presented by our Dramatic Guild. At approximately 8:15 many of our students made their debut as actors and actresses.

This production was presented under the skillful guidance of Mr. D. Edward Gorman. A grateful "thank you" is extended to him, to the cast and to all those who made the play possible.

December 12

Billy Higgins' will come at eight
With music soft and low,
And couples will dance so dreamily, beneath the mistletoe.
But we await the big surprise, of Santa Claus's deer
Instead of eight, we have of course
An extra one this year.
They'll prance and dance with you and you,
But now for our surprise!
The lucky number's "fifty-two,"
And "Rudolph" is the prize!

December 13

Today was a big day at P. H. S.—a day both of entertainment, education and surprise not only for P. H. S. students but also the students of St. John's and St. John's Prep.

Mr. George McDonald, representing the General Motors Company, spoke of the various things that would pave the way for a better tomorrow, taking the atomic era as the center of rotation. The students were impressed with all the gadgets which seemed to "pop up" from nowhere.

December 16

A typical night for the Christmas Ball (without any snow) brought many couples to P. H. S. tonight. But the elements were the least of our worries as we walked onto the crowded dance floor of the gym which was gaily decorated in Yuletide fashion. We waltzed to the soft, sweet music of Billy Higgins' Orchestra, and can certainly assure you that all who attended this affair will long remember the Christmas Ball of the "Class of 1950".

December 22

School was dismissed at 10:45 this morning after the faculty and students entertained St. Nick and the pupils from the Wallis School.

January 3

Here we are trudging back to school after that relaxing Christmas vacation. Don't you think that we need one more week for recuperation? ? ?

January 11

Mr. Thomas Cyrs returned to P. H. S. for the sixth consecutive year and presented one of his excellent talks as well as a movie of the only camp of its kind for the sufferers of Infantile Paralysis, located at Plum Island. Once again, Mr. Cyrs stressed the importance of the March of Dimes. The cases of polio have increased within the past year and it is the duty of everyone, young and old to support this worthy cause.

January 17, 18, and 20

Mid Years are on and it isn't hard for anyone to tell how things are going. Just look at those glum faces! ! ! !

January 27

The seniors and faculty of P. H. S. have honored Irene Semenuk to represent them at the Daughters of American Revolution Pilgrimage in Boston. This award is given to the student who possesses characteristics of dependability, leadership, and patriotism.

We should also congratulate Jay Tanzer who was chosen as Senator for Good Government Day and Walter Osgood who served as our representative. Congratulations Irene, Jay and Walter.

February 16

I'll shoot an arrow in the air
To fall to earth I know not where.
If it hits you, I hope you'll come
To the "Cupid's Ball" to have lots of fun.
My friend, Dick Putnam and his band
Will furnish music, the best in the land;
So don't forget, it starts at eight,
And there's no excuse for coming late.

February 17

The Senior class held a most enjoyable Valentine Dance in the P. H. S. gym. Cupids and hearts added an air of gaiety to this affair and Dick Putnam furnished the beautiful music

February 24

We're free for a whole week! Just think—no homework, no classes and no tests! Whoopie! ! !

March 8

Today Mrs. Patterson from Burdett College spoke to the student body on "Personality". She had spoken to us one year ago, and those who had heard her looked forward to hearing her again. Mrs. Patterson gave us many "do's and don't's" and told us a few secrets on obtaining this pleasing characteristic. We are anxious to have more of this kind of lectures in the near future.

March 29

A humming and buzzing is all that can be heard on the corridors of the first floor. You've guessed it—the Senior Class is rehearsing for that important date—Graduation.

March 30

During today's assembly, we were fortunate in becoming acquainted with our new football coach for 1950, John Bezemes, who was introduced to the faculty and student body by Mr. Barry. Coach Bezemes delivered words of hope and inspiration not only to our football team but also to the students.

The wholehearted support of the faculty and student body was faithfully promised and in the near future we will proudly look up to a team of P. H. S. whether it be a winner or loser in the field of sports. May success and good luck accompany our coach!

April 12

The day of reckoning has come. At an assembly this morning, Mr. Barry announced the Honor Students who are as follows: Jane Paczkowski, Valedictorian; Jay Tanzer, Salutatorian; Irene Semenuk, First Speaker; Melvin Mizner, Second Speaker. The other four students to receive the George Peabody Medal are: Patricia Georgiou, Carolyn Higgins, Barbara Quinlan, and Virginia Spiliotis. Congratulations also to the students who received Honorable Mention. They are: Marion Anderson, Rose Bertoldi, Geppy Chin, Gloria Correia, Jean Dzierzanowski, Phyllis Fellows, John Foley, Philip Griffin, Bernice Neilson, Miriam Quinlan, Helen Quirk, and Frank Sanger. All parts were given to deserving students and we could see from their gleaming countenances that they were proud of their accomplishments. Congratulations to them for their perseverance and hard work during their four scholastic years at Peabody High School.

April 12 and 13

Once again the Senior Class proved its versatility by the presentation of the annual P. H. S. Revue entitled "Spring Practice". Under the skillful direction of Al Mitchell, the class of '50 featured one of the most delightful and entertaining shows. Despite shaking knees and chattering teeth, the curtain rose promptly at 8:15. Talent was plentiful and we can assure you that all Seniors who participated in this show will long remember it. We can truthfully boast of our accomplishment.

May 5

Tonight the Dramatic Guild gave us "Doctor's Orders" and needless to say, we enjoyed them and, of course, followed them.

May 26

The Seniors enjoyed their last informal dance, their Farewell Dance, and they bid goodbye to all their Freshmen, Sophomore, and Junior friends.

May 29

Amid the joy and sadness of Graduation came that hallowed day of remembrance, our Memorial Day Assembly. While listening to each of the speakers, we vowed to those unseen heroes, whom we were honoring that we would do our best to help to make a better world.

June 6

Our Senior Year is slowly coming to a close and tonight our class gathered together, at our banquet, for the last time, before our Graduation. It brought to a close our four years of happiness and friendship at P. H. S.

June 11

The day of Graduation is finally upon us. Though we have waited and wished for this very day we want to linger a while and stop the ebbing sands of time, yet we go on as we must. We know the future has much in store for us but our faces are stained with the sad and happy tears of Graduation.

June 14

Our Reception turned the final page in our book of life at P. H. S. We were gay to the end, but our hearts were sad as we danced to the soft strains of the final song.

Our diary of our high school years is ended, but the real diary of the class of 1950 will be written in the future, for it is the years that lie ahead that hold our achievements and successes.

TO THE TEACHERS

To Miss Luz we leave our deepest appreciation for being our class adviser and friend.

To Mr. A. Johnson we leave the promise that in future years the morning bulletins will be official rather than social.

To Miss Carroll we leave the Junior Class as her able assistants in making 1951 a more prosperous year for the Observer.

To Mr. Donahue we leave a group of football candidates to capture the 1954 Championship.

To Mr. Gorman we leave hope that a P. H. S. baseball team will measure up to the N. Y. Yankees.

To Mr. Arnold we have no earthly possession worthy to thank him for his kindness. Thanks a million.

To Mr. C. Carlin we leave hope that our books will balance. Thank you for your help.

To Miss Coyle we leave MANY THANKS for being a simply wonderful friend of the class.

To Miss McNamara we bequeath a new modern gymnasium (For Girls Only).

To Mr. Greehy we leave a pipe to smoke in his peaceful moments. (If he has any.)

To Mr. McManus we leave the hope that someday one of his classes will be able to recite every line of Macbeth.

To Our Faculty we leave the assurance that the Class of 1950 will use the knowledge obtained in the past four years to reach our goals of success.

Our possessions being thus bequeathed and disposed as stated above, we, as representatives of the Class of 1950, declare this to be our last will and testament and hereto affix our names.

Jay Tanzer
Barbara Quinlan
Irene Semenuk

We three in testimony affix our names as witnesses of this will.

Ann Boyle
Ethel Goodhue
Patricia Riordan

CAN YOU REMEMBER

—the first day at P. H. S. when we, the class of '50, were frightened little freshmen.
—the day that our Civics Club adviser, Mr. Dullea, left our faculty.
—the first Civics Club dance, when all the boys were just learning to dance, and Joan Rain, apparently having no regard for money, tore up the proceeds.
—the Dramatic Guild play when Saldrid McLain portrayed a colored Mammy.
—Pat Riordan's unexpected spill in "Strange Borders".
—the nervous moments waiting for the go ahead sign, when taking a typing test.
—the beautiful ceremony when our library was dedicated to Harold Kirstein.
—our Junior Prom, with our queen Jackie Hitchings, and Tommy Johnson, our king.
—our first day as Seniors with our new homerooms.
—the applause given to Jimmy Nally when he attempted to speak at the Salem-Peabody assembly.
—the day Mr. Cuddire's 3rd period class was entertained by an orchestra made up of Anna Klibansky playing the cymbals, Miriam Quinlan, the xylophone, Jean Dzierzanowski at the drums, and Eleanor Dzuineski as the leader.
—the family quarrels between the Rudenko twins.
—the Revue rehearsals, when a group of senior girls quickly acquired hay fever.
—our colorful band and charming baton twirlers, as they marched down the field to welcome our fans.
—when Barbara Quinlan wore green fingernail polish.
—when Luella Cummings had long hair.
—Ruth Riverbee's infatuation for Mr. F. Johnson.
—the day our corridors were partitioned.
—when we knocked the Christmas tree over at the Glee Club concert.
—when "Shakespeare," in the form of Richard Carradine, visited our school.
—our queen, Pat Riordan and her lovely court at the Christmas Ball.
—the fire alarm caused by the janitor.
—the confusion over our class rings.
—the nervous tension during exams.
—your proofs — ('nuff said).
—the trips to Canobie Lake with the Civics Club.
George Karakoudas receiving the trophy at the Salem-Peabody victory dance.
Polly Putnam and Barbara Quinlan as able assistants at the General Motors assembly.
Annette Tanzer and Tommy Johnson portraying William Tell.
—our graduation practices.
—the discovered whistling talents of our Seniors after the bird imitations by Miss Diana Dixon.
—Ed Brophy receiving the SAS trophy and watch.
—the introduction of John Bezemes, the new football coach.
—the disappointing loss of the hockey trophy.
—the mad rush to submit Observer materials before the deadline.
—Mr. McManus' assistance in constructing the "Meta".
—If you can remember . . . then you're from the Class of Fifty.

PEABODY FOOTBALL — 1949

In reviewing the past football season, we find our team fighting with the same spirit and effort that is usually displayed by our school. Although our record was not as impressive as those of former years, the team consistently played hard, clean games.

The 1949 season marks the end of an era in Peabody football, an era in which Peabody became recognized as a leading football power. Without the inspiration and drive of Coach Seeglitz, Peabody could never have reached such heights. We owe a great to "Big Bill", and we shall always be grateful for the salutary influence he had on the boys who were under his guidance.

Looking ahead to the 1950 season, John Bezemes, a graduate of our high school will make his debut as Peabody High's new coach. Johnny has shown himself to be capable and dependable by his fine football play at Holy Cross College. We can rest assured that he will give his best as head coach to mold a team that will be worthy of the best traditions of Peabody H. S. A coach like "Johnny", who can win the esteem and co-operation of his players, can be counted on to turn out winning athletic teams.

BASKETBALL 1949-1950

Looking back over this past basketball season, we find that although our team didn't set any records as the North Shore's hottest team, our Sophomore Studded Tanners caused some first-rate upsets, defeating first-place Lawrence, second-place Beverly and a fighting Classical five. To all of our rivals we gave plenty of competition and in no game did our opponents have an easy time.

Although we lost many contests by narrow margins, this year's team, led by Coach Charley Cook, never once gave up without a fight. The loss of Edelstein and the temporary sidelining of Splaine, as well as injuries to such key players as Co-Captain John Gourley, Paul Higgins, and Steve Sarowski during the season, added that much more misery to our young team's young coach who was with us all the way — win, lose, or draw.

Fans can certainly testify to the fact that although Peabody ended up in the league cellar we did play some very impressive and hard fought games, and much credit for this should go to our extremely popular Coach Charlie Cook. Promising young players such as Captain-elect Bob Johnson who with this year's experience, will develop into one of the finest players on the North Shore; Steve Sarowski, a Junior next year who has really made the fans sit up and take notice with his deadly accurate set shots; Paul Higgins, a rising star and an excellent ball handler who will also hold his own in his next two years of basketball; Nick Grevelis, an aggressive basketeer who should play even better basketball next year. These boys should provide an experienced nucleus around which to build Charlie Cook's fighting five for fifty-one.

As result of graduation Coach Charlie Cook loses Co-Captain John Gourley who collected 131 points for his team, Co-Captain Pat Splaine who played only half the season and collected 29 points. Coach Donahue loses a scrappy player when he loses Joe Yonis who was an outstanding help to our "B" team. As we Seniors pass out of the athletic field at P. H. S. we extend to those who follow the best of luck. And we hope Coach Cook gets a few of those six-footers that he dreams about. We firmly believe we will be hearing good things from basketball in P. H. S. in the years to come.

Congratulations should go to Co-Captain John Gourley who was selected as one of the all-stars on the North Shore, and to Sophomore Paul Higgins who was chosen for the second team all-stars.

J. G., '50

BASEBALL

Our baseball team, as we go to press, is doing very well for itself and when the few remaining games on the schedule have been played, we of 1950 are hopeful that baseball will be a winning sport for us in this, our last year in high school.

Under Coach Bezemes, ably assisted by his capable assistant Coach Donahue, our ball team is presently occupying one of the top rungs in the Essex County League. Up to date the team has won seven and lost three games. We're second only to Lawrence and we are hopeful that in the closing days of the season we'll be able to overhaul the league leaders and present, as a parting gift, a baseball championship to Alma Mater.

Among the members of the Class of 1950 who are currently starring on the diamond are Captain A. Maguire, W. Connolly, R. Cassidy, C. Freeman, D. Price and M. Trovas.

HOCKEY

by LEONARD BROUGHTON

The year 1950 has passed as far as the athletics for the class of '50 is concerned but the past school year has produced the best team and the best record of any hockey team in the tenure of the sport at our Central Street school. The hockey team followed behind the favored Gloucester "Fishermen" right down to the final game of the regularly scheduled league season. The Tanners were undefeated when they went into this game with only one tie to mar their record. Our boys had to win this game if they were to take the Northern Division championship: consequently, they took the ice that afternoon in a rather nervous, jittery, and tense mood. The Tanners lost the Gloucester game in the first period when the Fishermen scored four goals because of the tenseness of the local boys.

In the last few years the students and the supporters of high school athletics have not had much to cheer about but the hockey team of the past season was an entirely different matter. This fact was proved when the sextet from Peabody seemed to improve every week as the season wore on really showing how much interest our own hockey team had aroused among the sporting public of Peabody.

On two of the open dates during the Tanners' schedule they played non-league games with two of the better teams in the eastern part of Massachusetts. In the first they played Gov. Dummer Academy and defeated the prep school boys by a score of 4 to 2. For the second game the Tanners engaged in a contest with Malden High School of the Eastern Massachusetts League which the Tanners also won, this time by a score of 4 to 1.

When the season ended with the Peabody entry in second place in the Northern division they engaged in a two game total goal series as a preliminary to the Lynn Classical-Gloucester championship series. The Tanners won the series by downing Revere High with eight goals to take the series and both games by a goal total of eight to one.

The main reason why the Tanners made such an excellent showing on the ice of the new and spacious Lynn Sports Center was as a result of the superb coaching of their jovial and well liked coach, Charlie Carlin. The coach spent a great deal of time while grooming the local boys for their North Shore League season. Mr. Carlin ran the team at all times so as to get the most value from each player he used in order to bring the Peabody residents a hockey team of which to be proud.

All the boys on the team and also Mr. Carlin would like to acknowledge the kind generosity of Mr. Harry Batchelder who gave the team almost three practice sessions every week at the Lynn Sports Center, as well as some very valuable equipment to several members of the squad.

A great deal of credit should be given also to a few girls who came to all of the games to lead the Peabody fans in their cheering. These girls were:: Ann Murray, Helen Campbell, Helen O'Connor, Joan Putnam and Sally McLain.

Among the members of the Class of 1950 who have hung up their skates as far as the Peabody High School hockey is concerned are: Captain Lenny Broughton, Ralph Smith, Paul Dook, Bill Connolly, Art Maguire, Robert Shea, Costa Papandreau, Donald MacKinnon and Dick Cassidy.

Those returning for next year are: Captain-elect Ray Jacques, Ray Durkee, Leo Kravchuk, Harry Batchelder, Howie Alexuk, Charlie Tracchia, Eddie Rennick, John Donovan, Roger Broughton, and Bobby Grayton.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

Under the capable leadership of Miss McNamara, the girls of Peabody High School have learned to participate in sports, to enjoy themselves, and to develop that admirable quality called school spirit. Great enthusiasm has been manifested among the girls in the individual physical educational classes, the program consisting of kickball, volley ball, basketball, apparatus work, marching tactics and softball.

For after school enjoyment in the gym the apparatus and tumbling club was organized. This type of gymnastic recreation included mat work, and group combinations. There was a large turn out by the girls and all enjoyed it. The seniors in this group were: Helen Manos, Jean Dzierzanowski, Ann Klibansky, Ann Potter, Lucille Moquin, Ethel Goodhue, Ann Boyle, Irene Semenuk, Nancy Sabin, Ann Murray, Pat Riordan, Helen Manninen, Carolyn Higgins, Joan Putnam, Gertrude Massey, Jane Paczkowski, and Sally McLain.

In December tryouts were held for the Girls' Varsity Basketball Team with many new freshmen and sophomores plus the more experienced juniors and seniors working their hardest to win a position on one of the teams.

With Miss McNamara's fine coaching and the girls doing their best playing, our varsity won every game. The first team has won all games in the past two seasons and the second team has won all games but one in the past three. The mighty six who graduate this year are hopeful that next year's team and those to follow will carry on the good work.

The following seniors were on the varsity squad: Co-Captains Ann Boyle and Ann Klibansky, Phyllis Augusto, Jane Paczkowski, Irene Semenuk, Jean Dzierzanowski, Ethel Goodhue, Gertrude Massey, Carolyn Higgins and Jeanette Pratt.

OUR CHEERLEADERS

It seems only a short time ago that our cheerleaders were most concerned about whether or not their new uniforms would be ready for the first game of our football season. Thanks to a capable group of seamstresses the last stitch was in on schedule and the blue corduroys sporting the "Tanners" made their first appearance at our Classical-Peabody game early in September at Manning Bowl in Lynn. Needless to say, the corduroys and the cheerleaders were well received.

We, and we write now for all of our cheerleaders, had during the football season a great deal of enjoyment in our efforts to give our team a little encouragement during a rather difficult season. We appreciate the cooperation of the loyal fans who contributed their vocal support at all of the games and we are hopeful that we in some small measure added to the color of our football games.

As we turn in our uniforms to be worn with distinction by next year's cheerleaders we cannot help sighing as we reflect upon the "good old days" of last fall, now only a very pleasant memory.
